The Milan Breast Cancer Conference is the place where to meet top experts in the field and network with all of those interested in how to translate new discoveries into better diagnosis and treatment of breast cancer patients.

The conference aims to achieve a balance of clinical, translational, and basic research, providing a forum for interaction, communication, and education for a broad spectrum of health professionals, researchers, and those with special interest in breast cancer.

Innovation and building bridge to conquer breast cancer are the major themes of our conference. Our mission is to provide information on discoveries that will have impact on breast cancer treatment in the near future, to better understand breast cancer heterogeneity and molecular pathways exploited for clinical purpose, to promote collaboration in breast cancer research, new ideas for projects, and create new contacts.

The program will address a clear perspective: the need for clinicians to keep pace with the rapidly growing body of knowledge on new molecular pathways, targets, biomarkers, drugs, genomic technologies at the same time, and update skills of care givers to integrate and use such new technologies in daily clinical practice.

See you soon in Milan!
